April Snow Surprises I-75 Drivers Sunday

Icy roads from Sunday's snow squalls were blamed for a 14-car fender-bender that sent six downstate residents to Mercy Hospital with a variety of minor injuries.

The accidents occurred at 3:30 p.m., about two miles south of Grayling on the southbound lane of I-75. Traffic was backed up for three miles while Crawford County Sheriff's deputies untangled the mess. Clean-up efforts took nearly two hours to complete.

Deputies responded to five additional weather related auto accidents Sunday afternoon and evening. No one was seriously injured.

Rodney Patterson Day To Honor All-American

On Friday, April 21st, Rodney Patterson will be honored for being named to the NCAA Division II All-American Football Team.

A dinner dance will start at 6 p.m. at the K of C Hall in Grayling with the cost at $10.00 per person. Contact Mike Branch or Bill Klinger at Grayling High School for tickets, 348-7641.

Special Council Meeting Scheduled for Sidewalks

The Grayling City Council will hold a special meeting Monday, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall to hear public input on the downtown sidewalk beautification project.

The meeting will be to gather information. No decision on the downtown sidewalks will be made at this meeting.

Dean Memorial Fund Started

The "Fraser Dean Memorial Fund" has been started at the Grayling State Bank. In recognition of Fraser Dean's love of and commitment to children, all proceeds of this fund will be used to enhance the Children's Library at the Crawford County Library. Anyone wishing to donate to this fund may do so at the Grayling State Bank.

City Police Schedule Spring Junk Survey

The Grayling City Police Department will again be completing a survey of the Grayling residential and business areas. This survey will be for the purpose of recording unregistered or junk vehicles, accumulated debris, unsafe structures, and any property condition which may detract from the public's view. The survey will be undertaken in conjunction with Grayling City Ordinance 72-3 (Junk), Ordinance 22 (Nuisance/Unsafe Structure), and Ordinance 87-1 (Fire Hazards and Prevention).

The survey will be undertaken in early May, providing citizens time to complete spring cleanup before hand. Upon completion of the survey notices will be mailed to those property owners being listed in violation. These notices will request that compliance to the notice be followed without legal action becoming necessary.

Citizens are also advised that Ordinance 87-1 Article II Sec. 1 prohibits starting or maintaining non-domestic purpose fires in any street or open area in the City of Grayling. This ordinance prohibits burning leaves, grass or brush/rubbish anywhere within the Grayling City limits.

$25 Fee for Drop-off Of Unlicensed County Dogs

The Crawford County Animal Shelter has announced that the higher $25 drop-off fee is only for animals who are not licensed or vaccinated, dogs considered illegal. Puppies under the age of six months and all licensed dogs can still be left at the shelter for the normal fee of $5.

Dixie Lobsinger, assistant to the Animal Control Officer, stated that anyone caught abandoning an animal will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law under the Animal Abandonment Act.

The dog census began on April 8th and the higher $25 fee will remain in effect while the dog census is underway.

By Irene Pettyjohn

After encountering little resistance to their proposed formaldehyde facility at their Beaver Creek public meeting, the Georgia-Pacific Corporation confronted fear, suspicion, and anger from residents attending the meeting in Grayling.

Nearly 90 Crawford County residents listened attentively on Thursday night, April 6, as 13 Georgia-Pacific representatives gathered at the Holiday Inn to explain why the formaldehyde manufacturing facility was needed. Engineers and a physician also explained the manufacturing process, the new facility's environmental safeguards, and the medical effects of formaldehyde on humans.

The response of the audience following Georgia-Pacific's presentation was mostly in opposition to the proposed expansion. Only three persons spoke in favor of the expansion project.

Throughout the evening many residents expressed their fear that even with all the environmental safeguards built into the Georgia-Pacific formaldehyde manufacturing system, the risk to human life and the environment was too great. The accident in Bhopal, India, and the most recent Exxon oil catastrophe were cited as examples of spills that were considered impossible.

SHUTDOWN SYSTEM

Questions were asked about the formaldehyde facility's back-up systems if the plant's catalytic incinerator were to shut down, and what would happen if the plant's shut down system malfunctioned.

Steve Correll, environmental engineer, and Jim Rewalt, director of manufacturing-chemical division, explained that Georgia-Pacific has 200 plant years since it began producing formaldehyde in 1962, and Rewalt said that he could not recall one incidence where a unit did not shut down when a system required it to shut down. He said that if an electronic failure were to occur, and went undetected by the person monitoring the computer (human failure), that each unit would be equipped with two additional rupture valves that would shut down the system automatically.

"When we began designing the resin plant a few years ago," said Correll, "one of our key objectives was to be conservative. To furnish a manufacturing process and an environmental control system that afforded a large margin of safety. I think our experience over the last couple of years shows that we have achieved that goal."

"The resin plant is equipped with a vapor collection system that controls fumes off more tanks than state regulations require and off more process sources than state regulations require," Correll stated. "It has a bathtub type spill protection system of poured concrete, reinforced with steel and at least six inches thick with a volume capability in excess of state requirements."

Even with every assurance that the proposed formaldehyde facility could and would be operated safely, many people remained unconvinced.

"You can promise us until the cows come home," said Linda Caswell, a Manistee River resident, "that you are going to be safe, but the Exxon experience tells us all that there are no guarantees."

FORMALDEHYDE

In response to Georgia-Pacific's claim that formaldehyde is a widely used chemical found in paper products, fabrics, fertilizers, cosmetics, and building products, one resident suggested that it is over-used and because it is present in so many products, the combined vapor levels emitted from these products pose a health risk. She suggested that Georgia-Pacific develop something different than formaldehyde.

"I wish you people would take the money you intend to use to build this new plant with," she said, "and get rid of formaldehyde."

Dr. Harold Imbus, an occupational and environmental specialist, said that because formaldehyde is a natural substance, produced in the human body, and is present in plants around us, and in the foods we eat and drink, it would be impossible to "get rid" of it. He said that formaldehyde can be harmful in excess, just like any other substance, including oxygen.

"Our bodies need oxygen to exist," said Dr. Imbus, "but too much oxygen, over a long period of time, can also make us ill."

State School Proposal May Need Petition Drive

By Irene Pettyjohn

State Rep. Glenn Oxender, R-Sturgis, began trying again on Monday, April 10, to gain approval for his school finance reform proposal. This time, not only did Oxender introduce an amended form of the Oxender-Nye proposal, but he also announced a statewide petition drive to begin September 1st, to attempt to ensure that the proposal gets on the November 1990 ballot.

Kent Reynolds, Crawford-AuSable Superintendent, said that the state's Democrats and Republicans have been tossing the hot potato issue of school finance reform back and forth trying to avoid being associated with a tax increase that might endanger their chances for re-election in 1990, as 1.6 million Michigan children wait for a responsible solution to a school funding system that provides some school districts with as little as $2,500 per student each year and others with nearly $8,000.

In March, the Senate had three opportunities to allow Michigan's voters to decide the fate of the Oxender-Nye reform proposal, and each time they failed to muster 26 votes for the two-thirds majority necessary to place the proposal on the May 16th ballot. The House approved the proposal on March 2 by an 87-14 margin.

Under the Oxender-Nye proposal, the state's sales tax would increase to six cents, and generate an additional $500 million to address the disparity between rich and poor school districts. Property taxes would be cut by about one-third.

"Governor Blanchard did not want this piece of legislation to get on the ballot," stated Reynolds, "and through his power politicking he was able to sway several key Democrats to vote against the plan, even though the reform package would benefit the very people they are supposed to represent."

"I am outraged at the Governor," said Reynolds. "What is Blanchard afraid of?" he asked. "It is embarrassing that the legislation is not his, or afraid that it will pass and make him look bad because he has repeatedly stated that a two cent sales tax increase would not pass?"

Reynolds said that he is also disappointed in Michigan's crop of senators.

"We obviously have legislators who are more concerned about their re-elections in 1990," he said, "than in carrying out the will of the people."

If the Oxender-Nye reform passes the Senate this time, it will appear on the November 7, 1989 election ballot as a proposed Constitutional amendment. If approved by Michigan's taxpayers, the reform will take affect for the 1990-91 school year.

If the reform package fails to gain Senate support, but the petition drive is successful in collecting the necessary 300,000 signatures, the proposal will not appear on a ballot until November of 1990. If approved by the taxpayers of Michigan, the reform will take affect for the 1991-92 school year.

Rick Perry, an aide to Rep. Oxender, said that it is Oxender's hope that Michigan's senators will realize that one way or another the Oxender-Nye proposal is going before the people, and approve the proposal when it again reaches the Senate floor.

Should the Oxender-Nye proposal be approved by Michigan voters, a Crawford County taxpayer with a $60,000 home would experience a $940.50 decrease in their school property tax contribution.

Rotary Minstrel Show Offers Captive Entertainment

If the song "Folsum Prison Blues" is any hint, the Grayling Rotary Minstrel Show may see the chorus in handcuffs or balls and chains.

But then the old favorite Reverend LeRoy might well be preaching about being a prisoner of love. On the other hand his sermon at the show this year could be about the evils of crime. Skit officials say that it will be up to the audience to finally determine what the real theme of the extravaganza is.

A sneak peek at other skits on the program indicates that pro wrestling will also be featured. Add to that a suggestion that someone may do some tricks in a water tank and there is a basis for a night of hilarity.

Attempting again this year to provide at least a laugh every ten seconds will be the inimitable duo of end men, Irv (Big Foot) McIsaac and Big Jim Berglund. As usual they will beg, borrow or steal every joke book in the county to outdo each other in corn.

Another musical note will be those sensational artists called the New Reformation Dixieland Band. As anyone knows who has ever attended one of their sessions the members of that aggregation solo to perfection but when they blend the entire audience sings along.

The chorus meantime will add its collective voice to the musical side of the entertainment with songs like "Tom Doley" and "Tie A Yellow Ribbon". Those vocals may also be a dead giveaway to the theme this year.

Tickets are still available from selected Rotarians but be assured that they will also be sold at the door even if latecomers must sit on the laps of others.

The show to be held at the Joseph Stripe Auditorium at Grayling High School will begin at 8 p.m. with that great overture by the band.

State Failure Pushes Millage Renewal Election

Last year the Crawford AuSable School District asked for a one-year millage, hoping state school finance reform would finally pass and it would be the last school millage voters here would have to approve.

State school finance reform has been put on hold until the 1990-91 or 1991-92 school year (see page 1 article). Subsequently, the Crawford AuSable School Board voted unanimously Monday night, April 10, to place a 3-year millage renewal request on the June 12 school election

The 3-year millage request will ask for renewal of 21.15 mills — most of the school's operational millage.

In other school news, two persons will be on the June ballot seeking two school board positions.

The terms of Rodney Lobsinger and Donna Lehto are expiring this June. Lobsinger and Mark Hartman have filed petitions to place their names on the ballot. Lehto decided not to run again. Two other persons, Michael Bearss and Douglas Hinkle, took out petitions but decided not to return them before the April 10th deadline.

Proposed Plant

Another woman questioned the warning label on wood products containing urea-formaldehyde, and asked why Georgia-Pacific produces a chemical, that when used in certain products, required a warning label.

Dr. Imbus said that Georgia-Pacific voluntarily placed warnings on some products about formaldehyde emissions, but also said that over the last five or six years, progress in the productions of many wood products has substantially reduced formaldehyde emissions.

Several times during the evening Georgia-Pacific was accused of deceiving the residents of Crawford County when they first built their resin plant, by telling the residents that it was not necessary to produce formaldehyde at the plant. These comments included:

"It seems like you put your plant here, then sneaked in the back door, and now all of a sudden we're dealing with a chemical plant," said one woman.

"Four years ago we told you people that pretty soon you'll be asking to produce formaldehyde here," said another. "I wish I had the tape where you assured us that you had sufficient formaldehyde suppliers. Now, here you are, wanting to produce it here. Who and what is coming next?"

Georgia-Pacific explained that the demand for formaldehyde during the past three years has increased faster than they had anticipated.

Vice-President of Georgia-Pacific's chemical division, James Taylor said that even with expansions to their existing formaldehyde producing facilities, the needs cannot be met. Taylor also said that shipping formaldehyde from Bishop, Texas has proven to be too expensive, and that the quality of the product, which must be kept at a constant high temperature during shipment, has been affected by the long trip.

"I did not foresee producing it (formaldehyde) in the immediate future because we had ample supplies available," Taylor said. "However," he continued, "I allowed that I couldn't predict what the future would hold, just as today, I cannot predict what the future will hold with regards to other resins. We do not have any plans to go any further than this at this time, but circumstances can change, and we are trying to maintain a competitive posture."

Dr. Tomlin Rosti, a Grayling physician, applauded the efforts of the Georgia-Pacific Corp. for providing a clean relatively safe industry.

"As a physician in Grayling, I see the need for more industry in this area," said Dr. Rosti. "Grayling is a rural depressed economic area, and there are many support services provided in Grayling that are dependent upon a good tax base, good jobs, and good wages."

Rosti said that the hospital is in a critical situation. He said that the hospital cannot survive only on medicare patients, and that currently medicare patients account for 55 percent of Mercy's clientele.

"More good healthy jobs and a more healthy economy would put the hospital in a much better position for survival in the future," Rosti stated.

SIX NEW JOBS

Joe Newman, manager of the Beaver Creek resin plant, said that the formaldehyde facility would offer six jobs for plant operations and possible future sales positions. The average hourly rate for the six plant positions is $13.00, and includes a wage and benefit package. He said that the new facility would represent another state-of-the-art operation in the Grayling area.

"Most of us who moved to Grayling did not move here because of state-of-the-art operations," said one spectator, "but because of the clean air, the trees, and the river. She said that she would rather people associated Grayling with Hartwick Pines and the AuSable River rather than a chemical plant."

"We're got the Guard, we've got Weyerhaeuser, we've got you, and that is enough," said Caswell. "Be a good neighbor," she said, "don't bring anything else here. Keep our trust."

Because Georgia-Pacific supplies Weyerhaeuser with resin, several people blamed Georgia-Pacific for Weyerhaeuser's timber consumption.

"Weyerhaeuser has chewed up the woods, raped the land, and polluted the air," said one resident. "For this the county gave them a 50 percent tax abatement, and now you are seeking the same abatement. I don't think so."

Another man asked, "I would like to know what you are going to do about all the trees that are gone? What are you going to give the taxpayers when you have stripped this whole area clean and there are no more trees?" He said that he files over the area twice a week, and that two-thirds of the county is missing.

"Those woods don't belong to you, they don't belong to Weyerhaeuser, and they don't belong to the DNR," he said. "They belong to the taxpayers of this state."

Georgia-Pacific told the gathering that they did not use wood in their manufacturing process, and did not intend to use wood in the future. They explained that the Weyerhaeuser Corp. was a Georgia-Pacific customer, but that the two companies are owned by different corporations.

Georgia-Pacific's James Taylor said that Georgia-Pacific would seek the tax abatement, but said that even with the abatement, Georgia-Pacific's tax contribution to the county would be about $200,000 annually.

BEAVER CREEK HEARING

On Wednesday, April 5, about 38 people gathered at the Beaver Creek Township Hall.

Concerns expressed by area residents included formaldehyde emissions into the environment, possible odors from plant, chemicals to be stored on the plant property, and how the plant would be protected in case of a major forest fire.

Correll said that formaldehyde emissions from the catalytic converter is currently .02 pound per hour. If the formaldehyde facility is built Georgia-Pacific estimates their emissions will be .1 pound per hour. Correll said that there would be no odor or smoke emitted from the plant.

Georgia-Pacific will be storing approximately 200,000 gallons of methanol in a storage tank outside the building complex. This chemical will be transported to the plant by rail.

Beaver Creek Fire Chief, Ed Holtcamp, said that the Methanol storage tanks will be placed in a spot remote from the plant's activity to eliminate any accidental rupture of the tank by man or machinery. Trees will be cut 100 feet back from the plant buildings and the storage tanks to ensure containment of any structure fires within the 100 ft. perimeter, and protect the buildings and storage tanks in the event of a forest fire.

Newman explained that the Georgia-Pacific plant is equipped with two fire monitor streams capable of putting large streams of water, 250,000 gallon supply system, that could either be trained on the tank, or protect surrounding area from forest fires. In addition, Newman said that there is a fire road access so that fire trucks can come out and hook into the plant's water system.

ADDITIONAL MEETINGS

As a result of the negative sentiment expressed at the Grayling meeting, Georgia-Pacific has decided to schedule additional meetings with civic and business organizations to determine the extent of the negative reaction.

Newman said that the majority of the negative reaction was in opposition to industrial growth in general, and not specifically focused at the Georgia-Pacific operation.

"No one disputed what we said about Georgia-Pacific's environmental safeguards," said Newman, "or that we could operate the formaldehyde facility safely. They just did not want us."

Newman said that Georgia-Pacific hoped that by scheduling the additional meetings that they would be able to convince the community that they technically are able to do what they say they can do.

Legislatures: Different, similar

READING THE NEWSPAPERS about what's going on in the state capitol is not all that much different in Florida and Michigan.

The lawmakers tend to worry about many of the same things.

Here in Florida, Michiganians enjoying a break from winter woes back home must pace themselves if they want to keep up on legislative happenings in the state capitol at Tallahassee.

The Florida legislature met for the first time this year on April 4 — and then only for a 60 day session. That's the law in the country's sixth largest and possibly fastest growing state.

Back in Michigan, of course, even freshman lawmakers are old-timers by Michigan standards. The Michigan Legislature came back from spring break on April 4, after convening way back in January.

MANY PROBLEMS OF the two states are similar, even if the approach to them may not be.

Florida has no state income tax, and there really isn't any clamor for one. There is a cry for more tax revenue, of course, to keep spending pace with growing problems in schools, highways, ecology, prisons, health costs, welfare, crime, and almost every other area of social need — real or imagined — that surfaces in Michigan, too.

Sound familiar? How about a governor who has promised no new taxes? In Florida, Republican Gov. Bob Martinez — a former Democrat, by the way, who switched parties to run for governor — has spouted the "read my lips" philosophy of President George Bush. No new taxes, both have vowed.

In Michigan, Gov. James Blanchard has not been quite so adamant, but his no-tax message has still been clear.

HOW ABOUT POLITICAL harmony under the dome?

In Lansing, Democratic Gov. Blanchard has his loyal troops in the House, plus the not-quite-loyal opposition in the Senate, under Republican Leader John Engler, who is Mr. Blanchard's most likely opponent in the next election.

In Tallahassee, Republican Gov. Martinez faces Democratic majorities in both House and Senate. The House margin of 73-47 is pretty solid, but in the Senate, the Democratic edge of 23-17 could be eroded by a couple of party-switches — which is a game of growing popularity in politically conservative Florida.

Like his Michigan counterpart, Florida's Martinez also must deal with a covey of potential partisan opponents who crave his job at the next election.

THE SERIOUS problems in both Michigan and Florida are serious ones, indeed.

Property tax relief owns a sanctity in Florida which is not quite matched yet in Michigan, probably because of the large number of retirees in Florida. And Florida also has some highway problems which are not matched in her northern counterpart.

Florida followed Michigan's lead in adopting a state lottery, with funds headed for school financing. It seems to be working well in Florida, as it has in Michigan. Lottery winners are regular big news stories in Florida's media.

There also are some not so earth-shattering issues in Florida, too. Before the legislature even met, more than 2,000 bills already had been filed.

One of these would designate an annual assembly of fiddle players in White Springs, Fla., as "the official state fiddle contest." Another seeks to outlaw, or severely regulate, an activity known as dwarf-tossing.

For the uninitiated, dwarf-tossing is a barroom activity, which came to this country from Australia. This crude and demeaning activity is most popular during spring break, and in college areas, where contests are held to see who can throw dwarfs furthest. Incidentally, the dwarfs are willing and paid and are tossed for a living, sad as it sounds. If the "sport" is outlawed in Florida, can Michigan be far behind?

All in all, reading about legislatures and governors and politics is an all-American activity. It's almost as if you never left home.

Alice answered the phone on the third ring.

"Oh, you're home Alice. I was just going to hang up," said Trixie.

"It only rang 3 times Trixie. Not everyone breaks their neck to answer the phone as soon as it rings," said Alice, a little annoyed. "Are we going to argue again about how quickly I'm supposed to answer the phone?"

"No, we don't have to argue. I just think it's so rude to keep someone waiting. But you do what you want. You usually do," said Trixie. "The reason I called was to invite you and Ralph over tonight to watch a movie. Ed rented a funny one covering the best years of an old television comedy series."

"Oh, I'd like to," Alice said. "But the snow just left and Ralph is already out checking his grass to see how it made it through the winter," said Alice.

"Well that shouldn't take long. Come over afterwards," said Trixie.

"Knowing Ralph, he's gonna want to rake it right away even if he has to turn on the lights to do it. He won't be able to leave the grass along tonight, after being away from it all winter," said Alice.

"How about Saturday?" asked Trixie.

"He already told me he's going to put new blades on the riding lawn mower and cut the grass," said Alice.

"You'll have to come over Sunday then," said Trixie. "Ed raises a stink if no one comes over to watch the movies he's rented."

"I don't think so. Ralph and some of the guys are going to work on the sprinkler system. He wants to start watering earlier this year. Last year's drought turned his grass brown for a while and he couldn't stand it," Alice said with a laugh.

"I never knew Ralph was one of those guys who go overboard on their lawns," said Trixie.

"Oh no," Alice laughed again. "Not our lawn. The Little League field. Ralph and others take immaculate care of it. But don't mention our lawn. It looks awful. The Little League field comes first."

"You know Ed was that way once," Trixie said. "You want to know how you can get Ralph to start taking care of your lawn too?"

"There's no way to do it. I've tried everything," said Alice. "I even got into a fight once with him about the lawn and gave him one right on the kisser — but that didn't work either."

"Oh this works, believe me," said Trixie. "Just tell him you want to turn it into a Little League practice field and he'll have it looking great in no time at all."

By: Barb Sands,
Volunteer Services

River House Shelter and Domestic Crisis Services

April 9th through 15th has been designated as National Volunteer Week. It is also Victim's Rights Week. Volunteers at River House Shelter learn first hand what victims of crime experience. They are trained in the dynamics of family violence and they donate their time and talents as a support network for the least recognized victims of crime in America — Domestic Violence Victims.

I have worked at River House Shelter since the beginning of the program, starting out as a volunteer. When the shelter began to provide a twenty four hour crisis line in October, 1986, I accepted the staff position of Volunteer Services Coordinator. Since that time, I have screened, interviewed, trained and placed over one-hundred volunteers. Each volunteer has their personal reason for wanting to be a part of our program. When asked, the answers will vary from "It happened to a friend and I want to help," to "I never even knew family violence was a problem here, but since I heard you speak, I know that I want to help."

River House volunteers are very special caring people. They are homemakers, business managers, single parents, senior citizens or students. They are ordinary people who want to make a difference for someone else. The River House program couldn't function without them. The volunteers provide emotional support for victims, help in the offices, transport clients, pick up and sort out donations, and assist with program planning, such as our children's support group meetings. Their special efforts will be recognized during the month of May at a family style picnic.

Whether or not you would consider becoming a River House Volunteer, I would like you to be aware that domestic violence is a crime, and it is here in the four county area (Crawford, Oscoda, Ogemaw and Roscommon) that River House serves.

If you doubt that this is true or think that family violence is a big city problem related to alcohol and drugs, please review the following statistics from our client caseload at River House:

Since the crisis line began in 1986, we have assigned 343 case numbers (as of 3/17/89).

A breakdown by county follows: Crawford County: 112 adults, 174 children; Oscoda County: 26 adults, 48 children; Ogemaw County: 49 adults, 84 children; Roscommon County: 94 adults, 137 children; Other counties: 62 adults, 87 children.

We have provided temporary residential shelter for 135 women and 212 children. Three adult male victims were provided services, including housing for one victim, outside the shelter home.

Still not convinced? Did you know that one out of three households in the United States is experiencing some form of domestic violence? That most of our clients are women with dependent children? That 95% of the batterers nationwide are male? That in a study of 120 batterers, one third of them admitted to abusing their children? That battering precipitates one in every four suicide attempts by women? That battering results in over 4,000 deaths to women per year?

If you still think that this has nothing to do with you, you may want to consider these statistics, especially if you are a taxpayer. According to the N.C.A.D.V. (National Coalition Against Domestic Violence): One half of all calls for police assistance involve family disputes.

80% of convicted felons came from abusive environments.

As part of our services to the C.O.O.R. district, we provide community education and in-services for agencies. If you think that your church group or civic organization would like to learn more about family violence and the River House program, please call the business line at (517) 348-3169.

Please remember, domestic violence is a crime: It should be treated the same as an assault on the street or any crime committed against another person by a stranger would be treated. The assailant should be held accountable for their actions the same as an assailant who commits a crime on the street.

Help is always available. Our twenty four hour crisis line number is (517) 348-8972 and collect calls are always accepted.

Don't be afraid to get involved. Call the police, tell those in need of our services about the crisis line number. Take that first step to volunteer to help a victim. Thank you.

Hanson Hills: Don't Grow Up Without It

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank Mr. Bohn for his positive comments 2 weeks ago about Hanson Hills, i.e. "It is worth nearly any amount of money to keep the 'kids' occupied and out of trouble, and Hanson Hills does it at the most reasonable cost for skiing etc. of any park, private and public in the state." He also states "almost everyone I know will donate to give our kids a good clean, moral playground, and that's what Hanson Hills provides."

We hope those "everyones" do donate so that we can raise the 8 to 10 thousand dollars needed to run the special election for the RENEWAL of the 1/4 mill that will insure the future of our year-round Community Recreation Area.

Mr. Bohn questions whether the 8 to 10 thousand dollars would be better spent by putting it directly into the Hanson Hills checking account. It would help but it doesn't compare to the 45-50 thousand dollars that the millage generates a year. The millage ensures that the insurance, light, gas, and maintenance bills get paid whether Mother Nature rains on us all summer or forgets to send enough "White Gold" to us in the winter months. It also enables us to generate the other $100,000 needed for our yearly budget. We do this by user fees, fundraisers, baseball leagues, and a weekly bingo that we have run for almost 5 years.

For many years we tried to support Hanson Hills on donations. Private donations, business donations and service group donations combined could not provide the dollars needed to provide a year-round Community Recreation Area for Crawford County. What those donations did do was to keep us alive until the community rallied together and passed the 1/4 mill needed to keep Hanson Hills open.

The taxpayers of Crawford County should be commended. They have provided the citizens of Crawford County with an excellent Dial-A-Ride system, a Senior Citizens Center and a year-round Community Recreation Area.

We need your help. Support our fundraisers. Vote YES on May 16th. HANSON HILLS, DON'T GROW UP WITHOUT IT.

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen
Avalanche Columnist

I knew all along, of course, that my brother Mike and his wife Chris would make good parents. I knew it before their baby was born, as I watched them be aunt and uncle to the nephews.

I knew it when Mike called me the night of the baby's birth — a problematical delivery which probably served only to make the bonding between infant and parents much stronger.

I knew it when he named me cry with the news that they had named their baby for both of his grandfathers — Joseph for our father, Loren for Chris's. Joseph Loren.

I knew it when every time we spoke on the telephone he put Joseph on to "say hi" to Aunt Nancy, even months before the baby had any concept of language or telephones or aunts.

I knew it when they chuckled over Joseph hiding the television remote control unit. And when he knocked over their good floor lamp, they cared not a bit for it, but were only thankful that he had not been hurt in the mishap.

But I really knew for certain that Joseph was a lucky little duck to have them as parents one night last summer.

Our entire family was spending a week in a cottage on Houghton Lake. As all one-year-olds occasionally behave in strange settings after non-routine days, he would not sleep for the entire night. He cried (read "screamed") periodically and at perhaps 4:00 in the morning he refused to stop crying. Dave and I listened from the next bedroom.

I am probably the soundest sleeper of anybody I know. When tired, I can fall asleep in the middle of parties, card games, conversations, even my own sentences. Once asleep, almost nothing wakes me until the alarm clock goes off the next morning. Last year, our neighbors had a chimney fire, and I didn't even hear the fire truck go by our house.

But that night, for certain, I heard my nephew crying. And as much as I love him, and as much as I'm ashamed to admit this, my impulse was to yell at Mike and Chris through what seemed to be paper-thin walls, "DO ANYTHING: JUST SHUT THAT DARN KID UP SO I CAN GET SOME SLEEP!"

But I refrained and as I lay there, I heard my brother coo softly over and over to Joseph, "What's the matter, honey?" That's the moment when I knew for certain, beyond any shadow of a doubt, that Joseph had been lucky enough to be born to world-class parents.

Why do I write about my brother and sister-in-law's parenting skills? I write in response to the Avalanche's excellent two-part series on child abuse and the accompanying editorials.

I write to remind myself that, in spite of the large numbers of abused children, there are also many good parents around like Mike and Chris. I write because it seems more useful than screaming or crying at the abuse that adults of our county, our state and our nation are inflicting upon our children.

One hundred ninety seven reported cases of child abuse in Crawford County in the past 15 months? What are we doing? These are our babies, our children, our teenagers, our future, upon whom we are heaping our assorted abuses. What have we become, or what, perhaps, have we always been?

We are monstrous. Not monsters. Just human beings with everyday failings that cause us to behave as if we were.

I first took child abuse seriously when I listened to my best friend tell me how she had come very close to physically abusing her baby boy.

She, her husband and the baby lived in a small campus apartment on a large university campus. Her husband, a graduate student and teaching assistant, was away or studying for hours at a time. They had no transportation nor money for a baby-sitter, so she and her crying baby were cooped up alone together.

It nearly drove her to break down. She said it was then that she understood how a decent person who wanted to be a good parent could succumb to any of a variety of pressures, and take them out on her children. She admitted that she had more than once come very close to abusing her own tiny baby.

Her point was made and we would do well to remember it always. When we inflict physical, psychological or sexual abuse upon our children, it's not because they've done wrong. It's because we can't deal with our situations, our emotions, our lives. And it's so easy to take out our anger and frustration on those tender little humans who can't possibly fight back on equal terms.

Yet it is so wrong. And so cowardly. And so counter-productive. And so horrid. One hundred ninety seven cases reported in the past 15 months? How can we allow that to continue?

All of our children — not just the lucky ones who were born into the right homes — deserve loving, understanding parents who don't abuse them. We must remember that the next time we feel ourselves straining against the bonds of our self-control.

Child abuse must stop.

Appliances, Scrap Metal Accepted Throughout County

An article in last week's Avalanche stated that C & F Auto Salvage would pick up and haul away old junk cars free of charge for the month of April. This part of the article was accurate, and residents requesting this service should call Chuck Ball, at 348-2864, to arrange for a pick up date.

The second offer that C & F Auto Salvage would also pick up scrap metal was incorrect. Ball's offer to accept scrap metal was only for people with junk cars. He said that he did not have time to respond to the many calls he has received since the article was published.

To assist residents with old stoves, refrigerators, and other miscellaneous scrap metal objects to discard, the Avalanche contacted several governmental agencies and junk dealers to learn what types of services are available.

John Miller, executive director of the Crawford-Otsego Landfill, said that the landfill accepts all types of appliances and scrap metal free of charge, but the scrap must be taken to the landfill.

C & F Auto Salvage in Frederic, and Larry Wakeley's Auto Parts on Whirlpool Road are also accepting old appliances and scrap metal brought to them, free of charge.

Grayling Township will be offering their annual 'compactor day' on May 27th. Residents of Grayling Township may bring their old appliances, furniture, and scrap metal to the North Down River Road transfer station from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. There will be a $3 fee per item, and a $1 fee for small auto items such as tires, rims, and batteries. No commercial dumping, please.

Residents of Beaver Creek Township can drop off appliances and scrap metal free of charge at their transfer station every weekend from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Sorry, no auto parts, tires or commercial dumping, please.)

Lovells Township will be accepting appliances and scrap metal at their transfer stations on May 27, 28, and 29th free of charge.

Grayling city residents can have their old appliances, scrap metal, and cast off furniture picked up with their Monday morning refuse services. Jerry Morford, city manager, said that the only exception to the City's service is large amounts of building materials.

Residents who contract with Milltown Refuse to collect their trash can have large items picked up on their regular collection day. Bob McLachlan, owner of Milltown, asks that customers notify the service if heavy items, or large amounts of building supplies need to be collected, so that adequate manpower will be available.

Obituaries

Harold W. Porter

Harold W. Porter, 81, of Grayling, died at Mercy Hospital on Tuesday, April 4, 1989.

Funeral services were held Thursday, April 6, at 1 p.m. at the Sorenson Funeral Home, McEvers Chapel, in Grayling, with the Reverend Jeffery Regan officiating. Burial was in the Elmwood Cemetery in Grayling. Pallbearers were Bruce Porter, Allan Porter, Grant Porter, Jeff Porter, Joseph Adams, and Thomas Potes.

Mr. Porter was born in Detroit, Michigan, on June 4, 1907, and has been a resident of Grayling since 1970.

Mr. Porter met his wife, Emma, while they were both employed at Michigan Bell, he as a janitor and she as an operator. They were married in October, 1932. He later became a PBX installer for the telephone company and held this position until his retirement after 42 years with the company.

He was a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America. In Grayling he was active at the Senior Citizens' Center and RSVP. He also delivered the Commission on Aging Newsletter.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Emma, in 1983, and his parents, Corel and Anna (Malwitz) Porter.

Survivors include 2 sons, Allan Porter, and wife, Inge, of Traverse City and Bruce Porter, and wife, Carol, of Detroit; 1 sister, Evelyn Frank, of Dexter; 4 grandchildren; and 1 great grandchild.

Show of Colors Planned At Grayling Parade Field

Grayling VFW Post and Auxiliary #3736, in conjunction with Camp Grayling, will take part in the "Show of Colors" for loyalty day April 30. The program will be held on the parade field with a military chaplain present for the service. Lineup for the display of flags will be at 1 p.m. All businesses and service clubs are invited to take part.

There are approximately 17 groups signed in now. For more information, call Lou Ann Crosby at 348-9038 or Juanita Beck at 348-5157. The public is invited to attend and pay homage to our veterans.

District Court

The following persons appeared in 83rd District Court before Judge Francis L. Walsh:

Tommy Price, Jr., 33, demanded preliminary examination to two charges, I) escape prison, II) assault prison custodian. No bond, inmate of State prison. He was cited by the Dept. of Corrections on 2-16-89.

Mary K. Cold, 42, of Flint was charged with possession of controlled substance less than 25 grams. On motion of prosecuting attorney, charge dismissed, substances were prescribed as by a physician. She was cited by the state police on 1-14-89.

Orville L. Losey, 45, an inmate with state correction facility, was bound over to circuit court on a charge of escape. No bond - inmate state correctional facility. He was cited by the Dept. of Corrections on 8-6-88.

Eric F. Gwisdala, 19, of Redford, Mi., was bound over to circuit court on 5 charges of B&E unoccupied. Bond continued. He was cited on the offenses on or about Sept. 1988 thru Dec. 28, 1988 by the Sheriff Dept.

 now is a problem with your homeowners insurance.

Home, sweet home. Sometimes it's difficult to keep it that way. And the problem with homeowner's insurance is you never know how good it is until the roof caves in. Then it can be too late. A Homeowners policy from Auto-Owners offers you replacement cost coverage on your home and personal property. Some homes qualify for optional Guaranteed Home Replacement cost coverage. And the great news is...this one encompassing policy may cost you less than the coverage you have now because Auto-Owners offers several discounts and rating advantages. There's no place like Auto-Owners when it comes to Homeowner's protection. Just ask your "no problem" agent!

Barber, Stephenson Attend '4-H Capitol Experience'

Two Crawford County young people recently spent three days in Lansing learning about government as part of the 4-H Capitol Experience.

Lisa Jo Barber and Heather Stephenson, both of Grayling, were among more than 100 4-H'ers from across the state who visited their state legislators' offices and government agencies, studied the process that bills go through to become laws, and learned about the wide variety of government-related careers that are available to them.

When they applied for Capitol Experience, each youth chose the subjects he or she wanted to explore, from environmental topics to social and political policies.

Each Capitol Experience participant is encouraged to become involved in local governmental activities at home before and after attending the Lansing program.

While they were in Lansing, the 4-H'ers and their chaperones stayed at the Lansing YWCA, near the Capitol, where they set up mock committee sessions, worked on leadership exercises and enjoyed the Y's recreational facilities. The 4-H Capitol Experience is sponsored by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension, the MSU Department of Resource Development and Michigan 4-H Youth Programs.

Morley Attends Decorating Show

Bobbe Morley, owner of Decorating Today, recently attended the World of Window Coverings show in Orlando, Florida. The annual event is the primary national and international showcase for the window fashion industry. Over 270 leading suppliers featured new designs, colors, and textures for draperies, curtains and tip treatments; also mini-blinds, vertical blinds, pleated shades, fabric shades, awnings and shutters. The continuing marriage of the two primary types of window coverings, soft fabrics and hard alternates, are today's main window fashion statements, said Morley.

Morley also took part in a series of seminar workshops conducted by leading professionals in the field. The sessions helped to update her knowledge and skills in window stylings and service techniques. Her attendance in the seminars earned her a certificate of participation in Window Treatment Design and Decorating Techniques.

Snowfall Slows Street Project

A spring snowfall delayed the April 10th scheduled start of the downtown street project. The $240,000 city project to re-construct 3 downtown blocks was due to begin Monday, April 10.

Grayling city manager Jerry Morford said he expected construction to be underway by Wednesday, April 12, but everything depends on the weather.

The $240,000 project to re-construct 3 blocks of Michigan Avenue and its sidewalks is scheduled to begin this week.

The City of Grayling project, funded from the city income tax, is expected to be finished before Memorial Day weekend.

Grayling City Manager Jerry Morford said the main contractor, Corvette Construction of Grawn, Mich., will try to maintain a route for through traffic on Michigan Avenue at all times possible. The section of I-75 Business Loop going through downtown is not part of the project and will remain open to traffic.

Parking along the three-block area will be affected at various times. Downtown businesses are starting a campaign to inform customers of nearby parking available. Many businesses are also asking employees to leave the nearby parking for customers. Morford also suggested that anyone close enough leave their car at home and walk to work.

Christian Group Tells About Haiti Attack

The COVENANT PLAYERS, a worldwide Christian drama group, will present various Biblical truths in the morning worship service at the Grayling Free Methodist Church, M-72 West, at 11:00 a.m. on Sunday, April 16.

In the Sunday evening service at 6:00 p.m. on April 16, several members of the Haiti work team from Alpena will tell of their recent experience of being attacked by a voodoo mob and show slides of the activities in which they were involved. The public is cordially invited to these services.

Volunteers Donate 15,604 Hours Of Service to Mercy Hospital

Mercy Hospital/Grayling joins many communities around the country in observing National Volunteer Week, April 9 through 15. According to Donna Pflum, Coordinator of Volunteer and Community Services, the week's activities give recognition to the contributions of area citizens and encourages all citizens to become volunteers in their community.

Guided by the theme "Celebrate the Art of Volunteering," Mercy Hospital/Grayling kicked off the week with a volunteer recognition and recruitment Tea at the Holiday Inn of Grayling on Monday. Auxiliary volunteers and their invited guests enjoyed music provided by the Roscommon High School Jazz Band, under the direction of Larry Sumerix, while they ate desserts prepared by the Holiday Inn staff.

Dennis Renander, President and CEO of Mercy Health Services North, joined by other hospital administrative staff members, acknowledged the important role Auxiliary members play in improving the quality of life through volunteer service. "During the past year, 87 Auxiliary volunteers gave 15,604½ hours of time to Mercy Hospital/Grayling in hospital service activities and fund raising events which resulted in equipment valued at over $8,000 being donated to the Emergency Room," said Renander. "We appreciate the volunteers' dedication and support."

6th BIRTHDAY — The Grayling Promotional Association marked its 6th birthday this March with a special happy hour, with a guest speaker, birthday cake and a luncheon was held at Sherry Hanson's home. Special recognition was given to Chief Shoppenagons Hotel for their support throughout the past year. G.P.A., with 55 business memberships in 1988, plans to continue to work for the benefit of the community of Grayling.

ON THE AMENDED APPLICATION FILED BY BAY AREA PIPELINE LIMITED PARTNERSHIP FOR A CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY TO CONSTRUCT AND OPERATE THE BAY AREA PIPELINE IN OSCODA, OGEMAW, ARENAC, BAY AND SAGINAW COUNTIES

On October 19, 1988, CMS Gas Transmission Company (CMS) filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission (Commission) in Case No. U-9256 for a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity to Construct and Operate the East/Central Bay Wet Header Pipeline and Lateral in Ogemaw, Arenac, Bay, Tuscola and Midland Counties.

On March 29, 1989, Bay Area Pipeline Limited Partnership (BAP), which with respect to Case No. U-9256 is the successor in interest to CMS, filed with the Commission an Amended Application in the referenced case.

BAP is a Michigan Limited Partnership in which CMS is a general partner and CMS Enterprises Company is a limited partner. BAP and both of its constituent partners have offices at Fairlane Plaza South, 330 Town Center Drive, Suite 1100, Dearborn, MI 48126.

BAP proposes to construct the Bay Area Pipeline (Pipeline) with three east/west Extensions. The total length of the proposed Pipeline and three Extensions (hereinafter Project) is approximately 95.3 miles. The Project will consist of approximately 42.3 miles of 16 inch, 16.9 miles of 12-3/4 inch, 11.9 miles of 8-5/8 inch and 24.2 miles of 6-5/8 inch OD steel pipe.

The route of the Pipeline extends approximately 78.4 miles southerly from Section 29, Mentor Township, Oscoda County (T25N, R3E) to a point of interconnection with the existing Michigan Gas Storage Company (MGS) and Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (PEPL) pipelines in Section 35, Tittabawassee Township, Saginaw County (T13N, R3E). The Pipeline follows the same basic route proposed in the original Application in this matter but extends further to the north and south and does not enter Midland or Tuscola Counties. The proposed east/west Extensions consist of 6-5/8 inch OD steel pipe. One Extension extends approximately 3.0 miles easterly from the Shell Western Processing Plant in Section 28, Foster Township, Ogemaw County (T24N, R2E) to interconnect with the proposed Pipeline in Section 36, Rose Township, Ogemaw County (T24N, R2E). Another Extension extends approximately 2.2 miles easterly from the Marathon Processing Plant site in Section 27, West Branch Township, Ogemaw County (T24N, R2E) to interconnect with the proposed Pipeline in Section 26 of the same township. The third Extension extends approximately 11.7 miles westerly from a proposed processing plant to be constructed by others in Section 11, Monitor Township, Bay County (T14N, R4E) to interconnect with the proposed Pipeline in Section 19, Williams Township, Bay County (T14N, R3E). Attached is Exhibit "A", which is a map showing the route of the proposed Project.

BAP represents that its proposed Project will benefit the State and public by providing a method of transporting natural gas from recently discovered reservoirs in the East and Central portions of the State of Michigan directly into the MGS and PEPL transmission systems where it can then have access to virtually any market in Michigan, the 48 contiguous states of the United States, and the populated areas of Canada.

BAP represents that it does not contemplate purchasing the natural gas which would be transported in the Project. The natural gas to be so transported will be owned by the purchasers and/or producers of the gas.

BAP represents that it believes there to be 482 Bcf of proven gas reserves which can be produced from the region and transported to market through the Project. Transportation services will be offered on a first come, first served basis at a rate estimated to be 15 to 30 cents per Mcf.

BAP also proposes to construct a Transport Meter Station at the southerly end of the Pipeline to meter the natural gas entering the MGS and PEPL transmission systems.

BAP represents that the Project will be constructed and operated in accordance with standards contained in the Michigan Gas Safety Code promulgated by the Commission.

BAP proposes to commence construction and operation of the Project as soon as practicable after being authorized by the Commission to do so.

BAP estimates that the cost of the Project, based on 1990 costs, to be $29,550,000.00.

It is represented by BAP that the Project takes advantage of a cleared electric transmission line right-of-way owned by BAP's affiliate, Consumers Power Company, for approximately 64.8 miles of the 95.3 mile route and approximately 8.8 miles of an existing and cleared fee strip owned by The Dow Chemical Company (Dow). As represented by BAP, the remaining areas that are directly affected by the Project are located on privately owned right-of-way (16.5 miles), Federal land (3.7 miles) and State land (1.5 miles).

BAP's filing is available for inspection at the offices of the Commission's Executive Secretary, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan, and at the offices of BAP, Fairlane Plaza South, 330 Town Center Drive, Dearborn, MI 48126.

Jurisdiction is pursuant to 1929 PA 9, as amended, MCLA 483.101 et seq; 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.51 et seq; 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.1 et seq; 1969 PA 165, MCLA 483.151 et seq; 1970 PA 127, MCLA 691.1201 et seq; 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.201 et seq; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1979 Administrative Code, R 460.11 et seq.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT:

A. A public hearing in this matter will be held at 9:00 AM on May 1, 1989, in the offices of the Commission, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan. Any interested persons may attend the hearing and participate, subject to the provisions of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure.

B. Any person seeking to intervene in accordance with Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission shall file with the Commission, on or before April 25, 1989, an original and 12 copies of a Petition to Intervene, with a Proof of Service indicating service upon BAP's Attorney, Mr. Francis X. Berkemeier, 212 West Michigan Avenue, Jackson, MI 49201.

Subparagraph (2) of said Rule 11 provides as follows:

"(2) A petition to intervene shall set out clearly and concisely the facts supporting the petitioner's alleged right of interest, the grounds of the proposed intervention, and the position of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as fully and completely to advise the parties and the commission of the specific issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted." (Emphasis added)

The Commission will require strict compliance with the above-quoted rule.

Icehouse Offers Interior Decorating

The Icehouse opened nearly nine years ago as a craft and fabric shop offering about 30 bolts of yard goods, and handmade crafts. Through the years the business has doubled in size, and today, besides offering nearly 700 bolts of fabric, it also has a full line of beautiful gifts.

Jill Wyman, owner of the Icehouse, has just returned from a national gift buying trip to Columbus, Ohio with many new gift items in time for Mother's Day and the Spring bride. The Icehouse offers a bride's registry service. Now, the Icehouse has again expanded its business to include an interior decorating service, and has enlarged its inventory of home decorating products.

Individual home consultations with decorator specialist, DeEtta Beebe, can be scheduled by calling the Icehouse, at 348-4821.

DeEtta has worked at the Icehouse for about a year, and has taught hands-on classes in wall-papering and decorating with pictures and antiques. Her decorating experience comes from years of decorating her own home, helping friends with their decorating needs, and designing displays for her own antique and gift shop, the Henny Penny.

Grief Recovery Seminar Offered

A grief recovery seminar will begin, April 17 at 7:00 at Mercy Hospital in the dining room.

The seminar will be held five consecutive Mondays for persons suffering from a major loss such as death, divorce, and separation from home.

The grief recovery seminar utilizes audio-visual presentations, lectures, and small group discussions to identify helpful and unhelpful ways of grieving. It provides a safe place to talk about the fears and mixed emotions that are so much a part of grief. Counsel is given in the art of coping with the loss itself, and guidance is offered to those who are finding it difficult to pick up the threads of life and go on.

Eye Care News

Richard P. Ferrigan
Certified Optician

Q. When should I take my child for a first vision examination?

A. Every child should have a thorough vision examination by age three, unless noticeable symptoms, like crossed-eyes, appear earlier. A child does not have to know the alphabet or be able to read.

Your optometrist can check your child's ability to see clearly far away and up close; to change focus from far to near and back; and to use the two eyes together as a team.

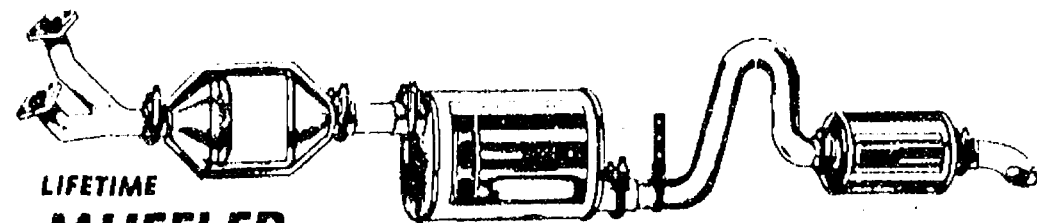

The optometrist can also detect any tendency toward such vision problems as nearsightedness, farsightedness or astigmatism. Treatment to prevent or slow these problems may be started.

In addition, this first examination is important in diagnosing a "lazy eye" early, when treatment is most effective. Your optometrist can also determine if your child's vision skills are development normally and provide help if they are not.

From Calvary Baptist church

The Gospel of John

Part #73

The Only Way To Heaven

The greatest religious evil of our generations is the perpetuation of the horrible lie that there are many ways to heaven, and each of us can choose our own way. "Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." (John 14:6). If there are many ways to heaven, then Jesus Christ is a liar, for He claimed to be the only way there. He is the way of faith which Abraham believed. (Gen. 18:19). He is the way of grace which Moses trusted. (Exo. 33:13). He is the way of truth which the psalmist chose. (Psa. 119:30). He is the perfect way of God's word for which David expressed gratitude to God. (II Sam. 22:31). Our Lord Jesus Christ is the way to heaven personified. (John 1:14). He is the truth of God by whom we must worship God. (John 4:23, 24). He is the person to whom the spirit of truth bears witness. (John 15:26). He is the truth to whom the Holy Spirit of truth will lead. (John 16:13). It is through the truth of His word we are saved. (James 1:18; Eph. 1:13). It is through the truth of His word we are sanctified. (John 17:17). Jesus said, "I am... the life." He is the God who breathed unto us the breath of physical life. (Gen. 2:7). He is the fulfillment of the tree of life in Genesis 2:9. He is the path of life found in Psalms 16:11. He is the fountain of life found in Psalm 36:9. He is the God in whom we find eternal life. "When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. Do you know Jesus Christ? "This is the true God, and eternal life." (I John 5:20).

Do you know you are right before God? "Every way of a man is right in his own eyes: but the LORD pondereth the hearts." (Pro. 12:15). "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death." (Pro. 14:12; 16:25). Jesus reminded us that the many are on the broad way, entering the wide gate which leads to destruction, but few have found the strait gate of truth, the narrow way which leads to life. (Matt. 7:13, 14).

Jesus Christ is the way because man is lost. Jesus Christ is the truth because man is blinded by ignorance through Satan and self opinion. Jesus Christ is the life because man is dead in trespasses and sins.

Do you know you have eternal life? Only faith in the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ for your sins can give such assurance. (I John 5:11-13). There is no other way!!

CHURCH DIRECTORY

A WELCOME STOP

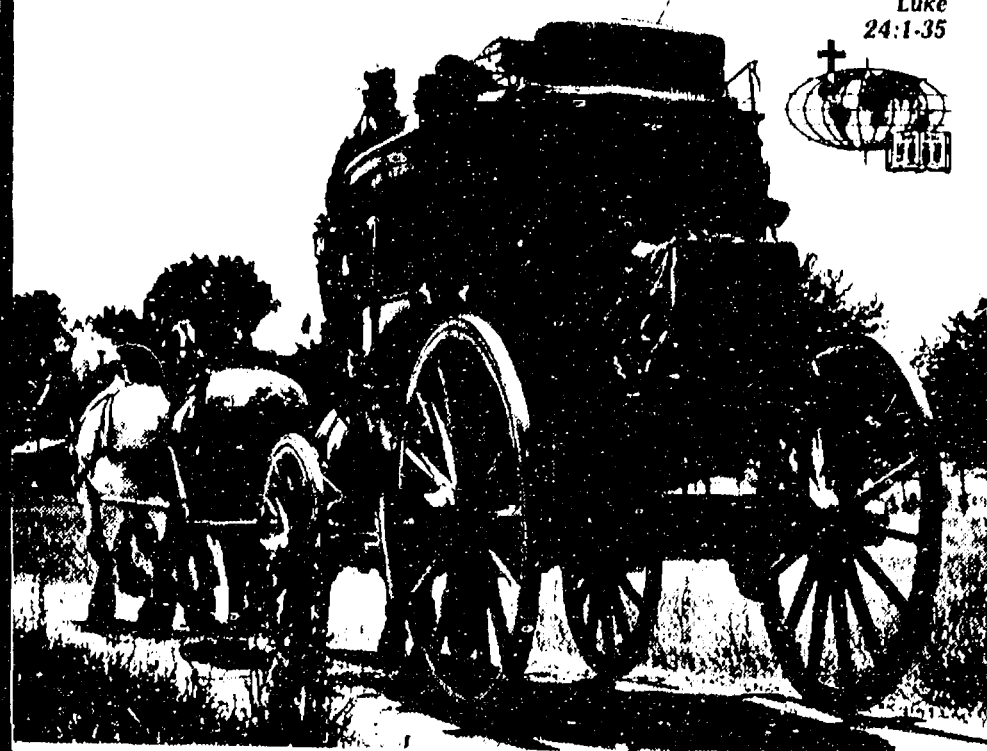

In the days of the Old West, before motor cars and the Iron Horse, the principal mode of conveyance for passengers and mail was by the overland stagecoach route.

From starting point to destination the trip was tiring, uncomfortable and hazardous. Travel was not easy. The trails were rough, the going cramped and the jostling about was painful. And, of course, the threat of an Indian attack or holdup was ever present.

After endless hours or perhaps days, comfort and rest for the weary travelers was a must. Regular stopping places or stations were far too infrequent along the way and each one just couldn't come soon enough. When one was sighted, it was sheer pleasure and welcome relief.

If your week's journey has been somewhat long and unbearable, look forward to the next station stop, your church or synagogue. There you can renew and refresh yourself. It will make the next leg of the journey easier.

Businessman Talks Issues With Davis

George Stancil of Grayling met recently in Washington, D.C. with Rep. Robert Davis (R-Gaylord) to discuss legislative issues on behalf of the Independent Insurance Agents of Michigan (IIAM).

Stancil, vice-president and co-owner of Cornell Agency in Grayling, currently serves as vice-president of IIAM, Michigan's largest organization of insurance agencies representing 7,000 insurance professionals statewide.

Locally, Stancil is active in the Grayling Rotary Club and the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce.

IN MEMORY

April 11, Edward Walker, Missing someone you love, never seems to stop. The injustices of life seem to be because you left so soon, the justice must be when we meet again. Love never goes away, and your love will here forever be. Miss you daddy.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

A recent law changing watercraft registration requirements has generated much controversy and many questions. I have recently alluded to the new registration requirements for canoes and kayaks, but have since found out that other types of watercraft will also have to be registered.

Public Act 56 of 1988 removed many of the exceptions to registration requirements. The Marine Safety Act now reads: "Except as otherwise provided in this Act, a person shall not operate or give permission for the operation of a vessel of any length on the waters of this state unless the (registration) fees prescribed . . . are paid, the certificate of number assigned to the vessel is on board and is in full force and effect, and the identifying number and decal are displayed on each side of the forward half of the vessel . . .". The following section gives the exceptions and the registration requirements:

"The owner of a vessel shall not be required to pay a fee and a vessel shall not be required to be numbered and to display a decal under this Act if the vessel:

(a) Is used temporarily in the waters of this state and the owner and the vessel are from a country other than the United States.

(b) Is a vessel that is owned by the United States, is used in the public service for purposes other than recreation, and which is clearly defined as such a vessel.

(c) Is a vessel's lifeboat.

(d) Is an all terrain vehicle not used as a vessel.

(e) Is a raft, sailboat, surfboard, or swim float."

The term "vessel" is of utmost importance in this Act, and is defined as: "every description of watercraft, other than a seaplane on the water, used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on water." And operate "means to navigate or otherwise use a vessel".

Although they are not specifically exempted, non-powered vessels, other than canoes and kayaks, under 12 feet in length do not have to be registered. This is due to the fact that there is no fee set for them.

Doodles from the Tall Timber

By Wendell L. Hoover
Hartwick Pines Interpreter

I am not certain where the Dedication Ceremony was held on that Friday the 19th of July in 1935, but more than likely in front of the newly completed Memorial Building.

Governor Frank Fitzgerald stated in his address to the assembled group that "Here, today, we dedicate another kind of memorial, one that is strikingly different. We are dedicating a living monument, one that sways with every breeze, one that holds forth to all who may come within its sight, a greater measure of majesty and beauty."

"These trees bespeak a glory that once was Michigan's, the glory of the noble forests that covered practically all of the State. Their survival should give impetus to the work of reforestation that is now being carried on extensively by the State..."

"I doubt that the State will ever be able to express its full gratitude to the donor of this wilderness park, Mrs. Karen B. Hartwick. She has preserved for us a magnificent heritage."

And, what is perhaps more impressive, more appealing to the heart, is the fact that this good woman has likewise paid tender tribute to the memory of her husband, Major Edward E. Hartwick..."

Thus as the summer sun went down that July day, the park was officially dedicated. It's beginning was full of promise, its potential hardly realized.

Poet's Corner

Friends

When "shades of night" softly gather
And the daylight ends
You feel the overwhelming love
For neighbors and your friends.

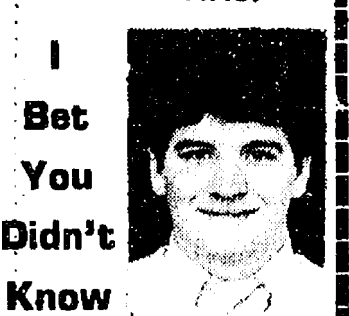

They walk along beside you
In sunshine and the rain
They laugh with you through happy times and take away the pain.

Sometimes illness and sorrow
Tear your world apart
The love and comfort friends give
Will melt your saddened heart.

One of the most amazing records in sports was the one set by Connie Mack who managed the same big league baseball team for FIFTY consecutive years! Mack was the manager of the A's from 1901 through 1950. There's a record that will probably never be broken.

Ever wonder why the winter sport of basketball is played in the Summer Olympics and not the Winter Olympics?...The answer has to do with a little-known Olympic rule...The rules states that all Winter Olympic sports must be contested on ice or snow and, therefore, that makes basketball a Summer Olympic sport.

The longest golf hole in the world is at the Salsuki Golf Club in Japan...The 7th hole there is 909 yards more than 9 football fields long! and is a par 7.

Congratulations to the Michigan Wolverine basketball team! NCAA champions for 1989! All of the sports fans at Scheer Motors were watching. Way to go!

Verse or Worse

Yesterday's Dreams

As I go hobbling down the wooded lane,
Body bent with age and wracked with pain.
I'm sure that as I see this familiar ground
Many old memories will be found.
For many times, when I was young,
I walked this path with a heart that sung.
Oh! those fleeting days of youth
When my world was bright and filled with truth.
The years so swiftly passed me by.
I'm an old man now, but don't know why.
My heart's still young, though my body's old.
The sun still shines with its beams of gold.
The clouds in the heavens still glide by.
Just as they did when as a boy I'd lie
On a sunny hillside in the spring.
Dreaming of what the years would bring.
Now, those years have come and gone.
Still those clouds go gliding on.
Right over there, I met Sally Maloney
Out for a ride on her spotted pony.
We sat over there under that tree,
And shared our dreams of days to be.
I wonder, where Sally is today?
Could her raven hair now, have turned to gray?
Is her young beauty wrinkled and old?
Does she ever remember our days of gold?
Sally, no matter where you are today,
With body old and hair of gray,
We met today as in days of yore
And you were young and beautiful once more.
I wonder if she ever thinks of me?
I know the picture her eyes would see-
A young man full of dreams and plans,
Of castles built upon the sands.
Sally! though we're now old, our dreams away,
The clouds still glide across the sky.

Tuna Divan

1 bunch broccolli, trimmed, cut in spears
1 can (12½ oz.) tuna, drained, flaked
1/4 c. mayonnaise
1 tbsp. cornstarch
salt, pepper to taste
1 c. milk
1 c. cheddar cheese, shredded
1/4 c. fine dry bread crumbs
1 tbsp. parsley, chopped
1 tbsp. margarine, melted

Cook broccolli until tender-crisp, drain and arrange in 10 x 6 baking dish; top with tuna. Stir together mayonnaise, cornstarch, salt and pepper in saucepan. Gradually stir in milk until smooth; stir in cheese. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly, and boil 1 minute. Pour over tuna. Combine bread crumbs, parsley, and margarine and sprinkle over sauce. Bake at 350° for 20-25 minutes until hot and bubbly. Serves 4.

Angler's Soup

2tbsp margarine
1/2 c. sliced celery
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1 can condensed cream of onion soup plus 1 can water
1 lb. white fish fillets, cut into 1" pieces
1/2 c. drained, chopped, canned tomatoes
1/4 c. dry white wine
1/8 tsp. dried thyme

Cook celery with garlic in margarine until tender. Add remaining ingredients, cover, and simmer 10 minutes until thoroughly heated and fish flakes easily. Serves 4.

Cherry Walnut Cake

1 21 oz. can cherry pie filling
2 c. flour
1 c. sugar

1½ tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
2 eggs, beaten
2/3 c. vegetable oil
1 tsp. vanilla
3/4 c. chopped walnuts

Spread pie filling in greased 9x13 cake pan. Combine dry ingredients and sprinkle over filling. Combine eggs, oil, vanilla and 1/2 c. walnuts and pour over ingredients in pan. Stir until blended. Smooth batter evenly. Bake at 350° for 40-50 minutes. Prick warm cake with long tined fork.

Topping

1 c. sugar
1/2 c. sour cream
1/2 tsp. baking soda

Mix all ingredients and cook until it boils. Remove from heat and immediately pour over cake. Sprinkle with remaining 1/4 c. walnuts. Serve with ice cream.

No-Crust Chocolate Mousse Pie

1 pkg. semi-sweet chocolate (8 squares)
1/4 c. water
8 eggs, separated
1½ tsp. vanilla
2/3 c. sugar

Butter a 9 inch pie plate and sprinkle with sugar. Melt chocolate with water over low heat, stirring until smooth. Stir in egg yolks and vanilla. Beat egg whites, gradually adding sugar until stiff peaks form. Stir a small amount into chocolate mixture, then fold chocolate mixture into remaining egg whites. Pour 4 cups into pie plate and bake 25 minutes at 350° or until just set. Chill remaining mixture. When baked chocolate is cool, chill thoroughly. The center will fall, forming a shell. Spoon chilled mixture into shell.

Going For The Gold

Grayling native Brett Stockton reported to the Olympic training camp in Melbourne, Fla., on Feb. 26 to train in Kayak racing until May 1st. Then he will aim to compete in the Olympic Sports Festival Trials, European Team Trials, Olympic Sports Festival, and National Kayak Championship, all during the summer of 1989.

Although the 1992 Olympics are 3 years away, the road to the gold is a long one for Stockton and other hopefuls.

America is one of the few countries which doesn't subsidize its Olympic athletes. Stockton and others rely on contributions, mainly from their hometown areas.

You can help Brett represent the U.S. by sending a donation, even small amounts are appreciated, to the

GHS Band Students Receive Top Scores

Five Grayling High School band students participated in the High School State Solo and Ensemble Festival in St. Ignace, Saturday, April 11. Participants are rated on a One to Three scale, with One high. The judges' expectations rise in conjunction with the students' grade level.

Due to the location and early starting time of the competition, the students accompanied by chaperones Janet Dice and Brenda Ormsbee, along with Band Director, Dennis Ormsbee, arrived and stayed the previous night.

Jordan Stencil, a freshman High School Band member, chose to perform a nonband instrument and received the highest rating, performing a piano solo. Two more freshmen, Shane Lovely and Jason Steiger, formed a drum duet and also received a One. Chad Ormsbee played a tuba solo and received a One. Dana Mirate, the only tenth grader to participate, received a Two, playing a drum solo.

"CORNELL CORNER"

There are diamonds and there are high quality diamonds. It often takes a trained eye to tell the difference. The keys are the "four Cs" — color and clarity, cut and carat weight.

We think of diamonds as clear and colorless, and most of the finest are, but some have tinges of yellow. Color grading goes from D, the top, down to a yellow Z. Cut refers not to the shape of the diamond, but the expertise with which it was cut for greatest light reflection.

A flawless diamond should be totally free of inclusions, or flaws, that interfere with that light reflection. Clarity is judged from FL (flawless) through VVS (very, very slight), VS (very slight), S (slight) and I (imperfect), with some numbered grades in between.

It's easiest to tell the size differences; two carats look bigger than one. But price is determined by all factors together.

Your insurer will want an appraisal on individual jewelry items over a certain value. Avoid an appraiser who charges a percentage of the appraised price.

When you have something valuable to protect, talk to us about a personal articles floater. We're tops in insurance at
